Assignment Extra Credit 01

1. No
2. Incentives that would encourage me to participate is extra credit in classes that are relevant to my ideas. Potentially even class time to speak to my peers for other ideas if I was stuck on a part of the project.
3. A big idea of mine would be a website that notifies me when there is a train crossing a railroad crossing near me. I would personally use this website to provide myself with knowledge before leaving for class in the morning, it would show me what route I would need to take to class in the morning.
4. This idea would take me at least three months to develop because this includes getting in contact with the train operators and receiving access to the GPS signals of all the trains. Then developing a website that includes all this data and create a user friendly website, thus needing individuals test out the website before releasing it to the public.
